St. Augustine:

November Church Cleaning:

Chair: Don & Bea Thomas; Jim & Regina Jackson

Holy Trinity:

November Church Cleaning: Paul & Florence Malsam; Conrad & Jackie Malsam

NOTE: The Holy Trinity men on for the monthly cleaning are also to be ushering and taking up the collection during your assigned month.

Thank you to all those who work so hard to keep the churches clean. It is very much appreciated!

Note: People assigned to Monthly Cleaning of St Augustine. Please do not wait to be contacted by a chairperson. Please come in and take a look around and see where some cleaning needs to be done. Restrooms cleaned, Floors may need to be vacuumed, swept or scrubbed, or wiping off something dirty or dusty. After a church function the kitchen may need some extra care that week. Many times there are dead bugs or leaves lying around. Trash cans needing to be emptied. If you aren't sure where something is located please contact Margy B, or Karen K, or someone you think may know. Please let's pitch in and help keep St Augustine clean and not push it onto the next person to do it. A bit of communication goes a long way and helps to make the task easier on everyone. If you think a task may need an extra set of hands, call someone and set up a time to tackle it together. Please don't just ignore it, chances are it's not going away and may just become a bigger task.

Fr. Kevin's Reflection

Last week we celebrated All Saints Day ... All Souls Day ... to remind us of the end of this world and the beginnings of this New World to come. In this world we celebrate a departure and a return. When it comes to the end things (in theology it is the forth year dread class called: Eschatology)

As we read in this week's Gospel, we need to know our place. No matter who we are from a worldly point of view ... we are all in the same lifeboat ... equal before God. Before attempting to explain this in more detail, we must take note of what God is preparing for us, and in many respects more important ... the reality of His World, possibility lying hidden in the pattern of departure and return.

Christianity has a great advantage over man-made religions and philosophies that are out there (as St. Paul addresses in the second reading). There is this sense of doom (or senselessness). It is found in large parts of the non-Christian cults and religions. This kind of flight (or departure) by which a non-divine being makes its appearance is seen ... not as a going out ... but as a falling down. A kind of "rainfall" from the heights of the divine ... and by the laws of falling ... it hurtles into ever greater depths, farther and farther into remoteness from God. This means that non-divine being is itself, as such, fallen being. (In other words, mankind in our nature and experience knows there is an Original Sin in our spiritual DNA.)

Finitude (or Armageddon) is already a kind of sin, something negative, which has to be saved by being brought back into the infinite. And so the journey back - the return - begins when the fall is arrested in the outer depths, so that now the arrow points upward. In the end the "sin" of the finite, of not-being-God, disappears ... and in that sense God becomes "all in all".

The way of return means redemption ... and redemption means liberation from finitude ... which is the real burden of our existence. So the general understand of worship (no matter the "religion"), then, has to do with the movement ... turning around. It is the sudden awareness that one has fallen, like the prodigal son's moment of remorse (cf. Luke 15:15-32), when he looks back to where he has come from. According to many of these philosophies ... knowledge and being ... coincide, and so this new view of the beginning is already an ascent back toward it. This general worship (in the sense of the looking up to what is before and above all being) is ... of its very nature ... knowledge. And as knowledge ... this worship is: movement, return, redemption.

Hopefully ... from all this ... you come to know why we must celebrate with heaven and earth all those who "have made it" and those who seek it (that is our celebration of All Saints and our remembrance of All Souls).

RCIA Class— RCIA stands for the Rite of Christian Initiation for Adults. It is the Catholic Church's way of initiating new members. RCIA is much more than a program. It is a learning and loving process in which conversion of the heart brings one to Jesus Christ. It is an answer to the Gospel invitation in Matthew 11:28-30- "Come to me all you who are weary and find life burdensome, and I will refresh you. Take My yoke upon your shoulders and learn from Me, for I am gentle and humble of heart. Your souls will find rest, for My yoke is easy and My burden light." If you'd like to learn more about the Catholic faith, please call Father Kevin at 285-6466 best time to reach him is typically Thursday's or Friday's @ Bowdle.

Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord.
