Fr. Kevin's Reflection

In this week's first reading, the king of Israel (Amaziah) tells the prophet of God to get out of town. Interesting, isn't it? The king of Israel thinks he can get God out of his life ... yet ... we know the King of kings is in his very flesh. Talk about a guy trying to run away from himself!

Let's stay on this theme from the Old Testament in this week's and next week's reflection. And, it will make more sense next week. (There are some deep things to be found.) Worldly seems to always over take the prophets (or God). This connection between the worldly and the prophetic may seem under worldly rule ... but not so fast. Its sacrificial system is constantly accompanied by prophetic disquiet and questioning. As early as the time of the first king of Israel (Saul), we meet a primordial word of prophecy that, with some variations, runs through the Old Testament before being taken up and "being made more perfect" by Christ: "More precious than sacrifice is obedience, submission better than the fat of rams!" (cf. 1 Samuel 15:22) In Hosea the prophecy appears in this form: "For I desire steadfast love and not sacrifice, the knowledge of God, rather than burnt offerings" (Hs 6:6).

In this week's gospel we see Jesus going from Old Testament to New Testament. He sends out His primordial church into the world. He begins the perfection of the Old Testament way of doing things. In the mouth of Jesus it assumes a very simple and elementary form: "I desire mercy, and not sacrifice" (Mt 9:13; 12:7). Thus Temple worship was always accompanied by a sense of its insufficiency. "If I were hungry, I would not tell you; for the world and all that is in it is mine. Do I eat the flesh of bulls, or drink the blood of goats? Offer to God a sacrifice of thanksgiving, and pay your vows to the Most High" (Ps 50[49]:12-14). The radical critique of the Temple, which (according to the account in Acts 7) Stephen delivered in a fiery speech, is certainly unusual in its form, marked as it is with the new passion of Christian faith, but it is not without precedent in the history of Israel. At the end Stephen takes the key sentence of his critique from the prophet Amos: "I hate, I despise your feasts, and I take no delight in your solemn assemblies. Even though you offer me your burnt offerings and cereal offerings, I will not accept them, and the peace offerings of your fattened beasts I will not look upon. Take away from me the noise of your songs; to the melody of your harps I will not listen" (cf. Amos 5:21-2; Acts 7:42).

[I know this is kind of deep ... but needs to be noted - The whole of St. Stephen's speech is triggered by the accusation that he had said: "Jesus of Nazareth will destroy this place [that is, the Temple], and will change the customs which Moses delivered to us" (Acts 6:14). Stephen responds to this allegation only indirectly, by invoking the line of criticism of Temple and sacrifice that runs through the Old Testament. He quotes the controversial criticism of cult to be found in Amos 5:25-27, the original meaning of which is very hard to decipher. (He uses the version in the Greek Bible, in which all the worship of the forty years in the wilderness is aligned with the worship of the golden calf. This makes Israel's liturgy during the whole of this foundational period seem like a continuation of the first apostasy. "Did you offer to me slain beasts and sacrifices, forty years in the wilderness, O house of Israel? And you took up the tent of Moloch, and the star of the god Rephan, the figures which you made to worship; and I will remove you beyond Babylon" (again: Acts 7:42; cf. Amos 5:25-27)). The very beasts of sacrifice seem here to be a perversion of worship of the one God. (The words of the prophet, used by Stephen in the version of the Alexandrian translators, must have come as a violent shock to his hearers. In fact, he could have added to them the dramatic words of the prophet Jeremiah: "[I]n the day that I brought them out of the land of Egypt, I did not speak to your fathers or command them concerning burnt offerings and sacrifices" (Jer 7:22)). Stephen refrains from exploiting such texts, which give us a sense of the difficult internal debates in Israel before the Exile. Instead, he adds three other trains of thought to get across his exposition of the message of Christ.]

We remember our sister in Christ, Leona Bollinger, who was called home to the Lord on Thursday, July 10. Her funeral Mass was held on Friday July 13, 2018 at St. Augustine, Bowdle. We offer our prayers and support to her family. Eternal rest grant unto her, O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon her. May her soul and the souls of all the faithful departed, through Your mercy, rest in peace. Amen.

Pope Francis' Prayer Intentions for July Evangelization: Priest and their Pastoral Ministry

That priests, who experience fatigue and loneliness in their pastoral work, may find help and comfort in their intimacy with the Lord and in their friendship with their brother priests.

From the Desk of the Pastor

As I am sure the word has gone out: there will no longer be a secretary staffed at the Hoven rectory. Also, Judy Weishaar from Hosmer, has been the bookkeeper for the parishes now going on four (4) years, of which, the last 1.5 years included Hoven and Onaka. These circumstances do prove a great opportunity for a more efficient operation of the parishes now. So, that everyone knows exactly what is happening, I have changed the mailing of the bills and advertising to a post office box in Bowdle. Judy will now be able to get the mail more timely (assuring the bills and banks statements are being processed without any delay). However, I AM NOT closing our P O Box in Hoven. This will remain open to take care of the Christmas Concert (and other matters concerning the physical operation of St. Anthony Parish). Only the bills, statements, junk mail, advertising, etc. are being sent to Bowdle. This is P O Box 339, Bowdle, 57428.

Now, with regard to the rectory. The rectory will be available as always. Being in the 21st century, I can route the phone in ways that will actually be more effective to serve the parishes. So ... instead of having two offices ... two secretaries ... two bulletins ... and more hands in the pot to mess things up, everything will be answered by the phone system and by Melissa Sauer (with phone calls being transferred between Hoven and Bowdle with a push of a button).

I know some of you are being overly concerned about a "change" ... stop it! This change is actually (when everyone gets used to it) going to make everyone very happy. Just ask those from Onaka, Hosmer, Roscoe, Bowdle, Leola, Ipswich ... they have been doing this phone routing and having one office for years. We have truly been behind the curve for several years now. With me going on vacation in August, yes ... the office hours are going to be different. But, the hours are always different during the summer. Once the new changes become old practice ... things will be settled for us until the 22nd century.
